| What's something you believe everyone should know.

1) Believing in God... Judging my faith and knowledge about Bible, Christ or religion should not be done... Believing on God is what is need and what we experience... it can't be proven or proved... If i believe on God or not it's my personal but judging and passing command on that is unfair... People do specially so called "religious people" judge others faith...

2) Getting feeling on a person... Our inner soul though it's know the physical error of us, the consequences, and alot still it search for the people for the comparison... Though it knew that it won't work out ...after some point of life let it be...let the feel to flow without any barriers...
